

Pay for Success: Treasury Department Releases Request for Information

Responses must be received by: December 2, 2013

The President's FY 2014 budget (p. 978) included a request for a $300 million one-time mandatory appropriation for a new Incentive Fund to help state and local governments implement Pay for Success (PFS) programs. In order to inform the Administration's development of this legislative initiative, this request for information (RFI) seeks information on options for financing models and the most promising programmatic areas that could be served by the Incentive Fund. The input received will inform the Treasury Department and an interagency working group on PFS about the best use of the authority requested in the President's FY 2014 Budget for the Incentive Fund and on other state, local, and tribal performance-based funding mechanisms. In addition, responses may be used to identify opportunities for flexibility within existing authorities to support PFS and similar outcomes-based efforts.

Some of the current PFS initiatives are focused on: reentry, recidivism reduction, expanding pathways for at-risk youth, improving health outcomes for newborns and mothers, and early childhood education.
