Indians Alcohol & Substance Abuse Program

Winter 2007

Indian Alcohol & Substance Abuse Program Overview

The Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA), Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice, supports law enforcement, courts, corrections, treatment, victim services, technology, and prevention initiatives that strengthen the nation’s criminal justice system. BJA provides leadership, services, and funding to America’s communities by emphasizing local control, building relationships in the field; developing collaborations and partnerships; promoting capacity building through planning; streamlining the administration of grants; increasing training and technical assistance; creating project accountability; encouraging innovation; and ultimately communicating the value of justice efforts to decision makers at every level.

BJA works with the Office of Tribal Justice, the Office of Justice Program’s American Indian and Alaska Native Affairs Division, and other federal agencies, in addition to many culturally appropriate organizations, to maintain focus with the field and to ensure the program’s goals and objectives are achieved.

This project was supported by Cooperative Agreement No. 20484-05-B-0501 awarded by the Bureau of Justice Assistance, Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice. The assistant attorney general, Office of Justice Programs establishes the policies and priorities, and manages and coordinates the activities of the Bureau of Justice Assistance, Bureau of Justice Statistics, National Institute of Justice, U.S. Department of Justice, and the Office for Victims of Crime. Points of view or opinions contained within are those of the authors and do not necessarily represent the official position or policies of the U.S. Department of Justice.

In FY 2003 and 2004, BJA received a total of 39 submissions and awarded 15 grants. Ten additional project sites were added in FY 2005 and there were an additional 15 awards made with FY 2006 funds. For these tribes not receiving awards, BJA initiated a process whereby resources are set aside to help offset costs if they elect to participate in the program’s technical assistance and training events. Coordinating this effort is the Criminal Justice Center for Innovation at Fox Valley Technical College (FVTC), Neenah, Wisconsin. FVTC serves as BJA’s primary technical assistance provider organization and conducts a wide array of services in collaboration with the working group partners.

Accomplishments

Over the past 4 years the Indian Alcohol and Substance Abuse Program delivered more than 49 training events, which included 3 national conferences. More than 1,600 justice personnel attended these events. Attendees included AODA counselors, police officers, probation officers, detectives, investigators, directors, judges, prosecutors, case managers, child protection staff, clerks of courts, community representatives, education personnel, grant managers, social workers, and advocates. These attendees represented 375 tribe affiliated agencies, including 16 IASAP grant-funded tribes. Non-grantee tribes are eligible to receive funding by applying for scholarships to attend training and technical assistance events. Scholarships have funded travel and/or registration fees for approximately 725 personnel representing over 225 non-grant funded tribal agencies and organizations.

The menu of training courses available to support the Indian Alcohol and Substance Abuse Project include:

- National Training Conferences
  - Annual National Training Conference for Criminal Justice and Community Leaders (Multi-Jurisdictional Law Enforcement Training Conferences)

- Pre-conference Training Workshops

- Treatments
  - The History of Federal Indian Law
  - Historical Trauma and the Impact on Addiction and Recovery
  - Moral Reconation Therapy®
  - Drug Identification and Recognition
  - Methamphetamine Manufacture and Distribution
  - Methamphetamine Environmental Effects and Clean Up
  - Methamphetamine SFGMT, Symptoms, and Effects of the User
  - Implications for Methamphetamine Treatment
  - Use of Talking Circles for Healing/Treatment
  - Reentry into Tribal Communities from Inpatient Treatment

- Law Enforcement and Courts
  - Working with Tribal, State, and Federal Law Enforcement to Address Methamphetamine in Indian Country
  - Building Multi-Disciplinary Response Teams
  - Restorative Justice and Working with Youth on Probation
  - Peacemaking to Heal Communities from Substance Abuse

- Grant Management
  - Orientation and Grant Implementation

- Community Analysis Process for Planning Strategies (CAPPS)

The working group partners initiated a mentoring relationship with grantee practitioners to facilitate the development of faculty to provide training and technical assistance to other tribes. Building capacity in this way benefits the hosting/mentoring tribes as well as the tribes receiving the training and technical assistance.

In addition to training courses, CJCI and our working group partners/consultants responded to more than 30 onsite technical assistance requests. Onsite technical assistance requests included presentations on alcohol and other drugs, methamphetamine, IASAP program development, site monitoring visits, and community action planning.
